Historical Background and Significance

The 1946 Ford Business Coupe was introduced as part of Ford's immediate post-war production lineup. After World War II, the automotive industry faced the challenge of transitioning from military manufacturing back to civilian vehicles. Ford resumed civilian car production with limited changes from its pre-war models, making the 1946 Business Coupe a bridge between the past and future of automotive design. This coupe was primarily targeted at business owners and professionals who required a reliable, functional vehicle that also offered style and comfort.

Post-War Automotive Industry Context

Following the end of World War II, manufacturers like Ford had to quickly restart civilian vehicle production using pre-existing tooling and designs. The 1946 Ford Business Coupe exemplified this approach, retaining many design elements from the late 1930s and early 1940s models. Despite these constraints, it met the demand for new cars in a recovering economy, symbolizing renewed growth and prosperity.

Importance to Ford's Model Lineup

The Business Coupe filled a niche within Ford's lineup by offering a two-door vehicle with increased cargo space and seating tailored for business use. It was less ornate than passenger coupes but provided a sturdy build and practicality, making it a popular choice among small business owners, tradespeople, and delivery services.

Design and Styling Features

The 1946 Ford Business Coupe featured a distinctive design that blended traditional coupe elements with functional enhancements. Its exterior showcased smooth curves, a prominent grille, and a streamlined body reflecting Ford's Art Deco influences. The coupe's roofline was higher compared to other models, improving headroom and cargo capacity, which was significant for business applications.

Exterior Characteristics

The vehicle's exterior was marked by a single-piece windshield, rounded fenders, and a split rear window design. The front grille incorporated horizontal bars with a chrome finish, providing an elegant yet robust look. The absence of rear side windows distinguished the Business Coupe from passenger coupes, emphasizing its utilitarian purpose.

Interior Layout and Features

Inside, the 1946 Ford Business Coupe offered a spacious cabin with bench seating for two passengers. The dashboard was straightforward, focusing on essential gauges and controls to facilitate ease of use. Upholstery was typically vinyl or cloth, designed for durability rather than luxury, reflecting the vehicle's commercial orientation.

- Two-door coupe body style
- Single-piece windshield
- Split rear window for enhanced visibility
- Chrome-accented front grille
- Spacious interior with bench seating

Technical Specifications and Performance

The 1946 Ford Business Coupe was equipped with a powerful and reliable engine that made it well-suited for both urban and rural driving needs. Its mechanical components were largely carried over from pre-war models, ensuring proven durability and ease of maintenance. The vehicle's performance characteristics balanced power and efficiency for its time.

Engine and Transmission

At the heart of the 1946 Ford Business Coupe was the legendary Flathead V8 engine, a 3.9-liter (239 cubic inch) powerplant delivering approximately 100 horsepower. This engine was praised for its simplicity and torque, making it ideal for carrying loads and navigating various terrains. The coupe was paired with a three-speed manual transmission, providing smooth gear shifts and driver control.

Chassis and Suspension

The chassis utilized a sturdy ladder frame design, contributing to the vehicle's robust handling and load-bearing capabilities. The suspension system featured leaf springs both front and rear, offering a comfortable ride despite the vehicle's commercial nature. Drum brakes were standard on all four wheels, providing adequate stopping power for the era.

- 3.9L Flathead V8 engine producing 100 hp
- Three-speed manual transmission
- Ladder frame chassis for strength
- Leaf spring suspension front and rear
- Four-wheel drum brakes

Restoration and Maintenance Tips

Restoring a 1946 Ford Business Coupe requires attention to detail and an understanding of vintage automotive technology. Given its age and historical value, preservation of original parts and specifications is important for collectors. Regular maintenance and careful restoration can ensure that the vehicle remains roadworthy and retains its classic appeal.

Common Restoration Challenges

One of the primary challenges in restoring the 1946 Ford Business Coupe is sourcing authentic replacement parts. Many original components, such as body panels, trim pieces, and mechanical parts, are rare or no longer produced. Additionally, the Flathead V8 engine may require specialized rebuilding knowledge due to its unique design and age.

Essential Maintenance Practices

Maintaining the 1946 Ford Business Coupe involves routine checks of the engine, brakes, and suspension. Regular oil changes, lubrication of moving parts, and brake system inspections are critical. Attention to the electrical system, especially the generator and wiring, is also important to prevent failures.

- Source authentic or NOS parts when possible
- Engage experts familiar with Flathead V8 engines
- Perform regular lubrication and fluid changes
- Inspect and maintain the brake system frequently
- Preserve original interior and exterior finishes

Collectibility and Market Value

The 1946 Ford Business Coupe is highly regarded among classic car collectors due to its historical significance and distinctive styling. Its market value has appreciated steadily, especially for models in excellent condition or those restored to factory specifications. Collectors value the coupe for its representation of post-war automotive design and its role in American car culture.

Factors Influencing Value

The value of a 1946 Ford Business Coupe depends on several key factors including originality, condition, provenance, and completeness. Vehicles with matching numbers, original parts, and minimal modifications typically command higher prices. Well-documented restoration histories also enhance desirability among buyers.

Current Market Trends

In recent years, interest in vintage Ford coupes has grown, driven by nostalgia and the increasing rarity of well-preserved examples. Auction results and private sales indicate that the 1946 Business Coupe remains a sought-after collector car, often fetching premium prices in classic car markets.

- Originality and matching numbers increase value
- Condition ranging from good to concours level affects price
- Provenance and documentation enhance collectibility
- Rarity of well-maintained examples drives demand
- Growing enthusiasm among classic car communities

1946 ford business coupe: Project Street Rod Larry Lyles, 2012-10-02 Project Street Rod is a complete guide to restoring a vintage car, written by auto-restoration guru Larry Lyles, a regular contributor to Auto Restorer magazine. In this detailed 21-chapter volume, Lyles walks the car owner through every step of the modification, from the disassembly of the car and to the finish touches, all with detailed instructions. Lyles transforms a beat-up 1946 Ford into a car the looks nice, is very dependable, and is decked out with many of the [necessary] modern-day trappings. The title of each chapter is straightforward and tells the restorer exactly which step Lyles is explaining. The contents includes: beginning the disassembly, exterior and interior, and taking proper measurements of each component; installing the front suspension; installing the engine; shocks, spring and metal lines; floor pan installation, suicide doors, chopping the top, completing the top chop, seats, air-conditioning, and brake pedal; first project mock-up; working with body filler; color selection; new parts and fresh primer; ordering critical parts; the final clear coats; buildup; interior trim; headliner and center console; and finishing touches. Each step in every chapter is photographed as the author progresses along, with captions to spell out exactly what has to happen. The book offers helpful advice about choice of tools and tips to make even beginners feel confident about tackling the many steps involved. With nearly forty years experience in repairing, rebuilding, and restoring classic cars (and lots of unclassic ones like this 1946 Ford!), Lyles emphasizes the reader's need to organize his or her project by determining the course of the project, researching suppliers, making lists of parts and their conditions, creating spreadsheets of estimated and actual costs, and photographing each component as a reference for later in case the restoration goes off track. Each chapter ends with a notes page for the reader to record his or her progress, making this manual a practical workbook as well. When the reader gets to the final pages of the book and reads the sections Starting Up and The Walk Around, there will be a true sense of accomplishment. An appendix of part suppliers and an index complete the book.

1946 ford business coupe: Edsel Ford and E.T. Gregorie Henry Dominguez, 1999-06-29 The relationship that developed between Edsel Ford and E.T. Bob Gregorie (Ford Motor Company's first design chief) was unique in automotive history. Gregorie leaned heavily on Edsel for his support and protection, and Edsel depended on Gregorie for his creative abilities. Edsel Ford and E.T. Gregorie is the first book to provide in-depth analysis of how the early Fords, Mercurys and Lincolns were designed. Based on first hand discussions with Gregorie, author Henry Dominguez covers every major design of Gregorie's career. Automotive historians have listed the 1936 Zephyr, 1938 Zephyr, and 1939 Continental as Gregorie's greatest achievements. This book details the hows and whys of every Ford product designed under his tutelage.

1946 ford business coupe: American Cars, 1946-1959 J. "Kelly" Flory, Jr., 2008-11-24 From the resumption of automobile production at the close of World War II through the 1950s, the American auto industry would see the births and deaths of several manufacturers, great technological advances, and an era of dramatic styling as a prospering nation asserted its growing mobility. Cars of this period are among the most iconic vehicles ever built in the United States: the 1949 Ford, the remarkable Studebaker designs of 1950 and 1953, the 1955-1957 Chevrolets, the Forward Look Chrysler products, the ill-fated Edsel and many others. This comprehensive reference book details every model from each of the major manufacturers (including independents such as Kaiser-Frazer and Crosley but excluding very low-volume marques such as Tucker) from model years 1946 through 1959. Year by year, it provides an overview of the industry and market, followed by an individual report on each company: its main news for the year (introductions or cancellations of models, new engines and transmissions, advertising themes, sales trends etc.); its production figures and market status; and its powertrain offerings, paint colors and major options. The company's models are then detailed individually with such information as body styles, prices, dimensions and weights, standard equipment and production figures. Nearly 1,000 photographs are included.

1946 ford business coupe: Barn Find Road Trip Tom Cotter, 2015-09-28 Great collector cars are still out there--just waiting to be found! Sadly, there is very little reality in reality TV. That wouldn't be so bad except for the fact that these shows are the only TV shows for the barn-find collector car aficionado. Barn Find Road Trip is the antidote to all the manufactured collector reality shows. It's a real-world, barn-find banzai run in which auto archaeologist Tom Cotter, his car collector pal Brian Barr, and photographer Michael Alan Ross embarked on a 14-day collector-car-seeking adventure with no predetermined destinations. It's barn-find freestyle! Roaming the Southeast, they documented their day-to-day car search in photos and through stories and interviews. This trip is absolutely real and the same kind of junket any gearhead with the skills, knowledge, and time can undertake. Cotter and company hit the road in Cotter's 1939 Ford Woody, the kind of car that opened doors and started the conversations that revealed where interesting cars were squirreled away. The result? The discovery of over 1,000 collector cars and some of the most amazing barn-find stories Cotter has yet unearthed, all accompanied by Ross' evocative photography. If you love stories of automotive adventure, this is the book for you!

1946 ford business coupe: Walking with My Sunshine Rufus Franklin Stephenson, 2012-12-13 In the sequel to From Dixieland to Frisco Bay, Rufus Franklin Stephenson tells us the story of a romance which has lasted for more than half a century. Walking with My Sunshine chronicles his marriage to Joyce, the love of his life. When Rufus and Joyce decided to marry at a very young age, few supported them. Yet despite everything, they proved that true love can overcome any form of adversity, and can last a lifetime. Nourished by faith in God, the blessing of children, and unwavering loyalty to each other, their marriage has been the foundation for a family, now four generations strong, who know that the best moments in life are those that are shared with those we love. This is a story of family, of forgiveness, of building a life with faith. It is one that will lift your heart.

1946 ford business coupe: A Layman's Daily Devotional Curt Donahue, 2017-02-27 A Layman's Daily Devotional was written by a layman for laypeople of all ages. It is mostly devoid of theological terms, so it is easier for the average person to understand. There are applicable illustrations to help people comprehend the message from Scripture and its application to the message of the day. There is a devotion for every day of the year, and several devotions for specific days in the Christian calendar, as well as for days on which we honor both mothers and fathers. The reader will likely gain a closer relationship with their Lord and Savior Jesus Christ through daily use and may also develop a closer relationship with family members when used as a family devotion. The changing and challenging circumstances in our world today require closer relationships with both God and family. A Layman's Daily Devotional lends itself to development of both relationships. With few exceptions, each devotion is a stand-alone devotion. This book would make a meaningful gift to a young person venturing out on their own, who could develop the habit early of spending time each day with God, which is always a good way to start every day. A Layman's Daily Devotional is written such that it can be used year after year throughout one's life.

1946 ford business coupe: Woodlawn Todd Gerelds, 2015-09-15 Now a major motion picture starring Jon Voight, Nic Bishop, and C. Thomas Howell. This riveting true story of courage, strength, and football at the height of racial tension in Birmingham, Alabama tells the story of Coach Tandy Gerelds, his running back Tony Nathan, and a high school football game that healed a city. In the midst of violent, impassioned racial tensions in Birmingham, Alabama, new football coach, Tandy Gerelds, was struggling to create a winning football team at Woodlawn High School—one of the last schools in Birmingham to integrate. The team he was handed did not have the caliber of players he needed to win—until he saw Tony Nathan run. But Tony was African American and Coach Gerelds knew that putting him in as running back would be like drawing a target on his own back and the back of his soon-to-be star player. But Coach Gerelds saw something in Tony, and he knew that his decision to let him play was about more than football. It was about doing what was right for the school—and the city. And soon, the only place in the city where blacks and whites got along was on Coach Gerelds's football team. With the help of a new school chaplain, Tony learned to look beyond himself and realized that there was more at stake than winning a game. In 1974, Coach Gerelds's interracial team made Alabama history drawing 42,000 fans into the stadium to watch them play. It was this game that triggered the unity and support of the Woodlawn High School Colonels and that finally allowed a city to heal and taught its citizens how to love.

1946 ford business coupe: A Farm Boy Sees the World Donald F. Megnin, 2008-07-11 This story about a farm boy who for the first time is really exposed to the world as he had never envisioned it to be, but grew up fascinated by the variety and unique types of people whom he has encountered over the course of his lifetime. Obviously, a great deal has been left out or omitted: some intentionally, and some inadvertently. The aging mind begins to remember people, places and events which have had a lasting impact as the years have gone by. I've no doubt left out some very salient points which others may remember, but I have forgotten. I also, however, have remembered events people and places which some persons may have preferred to forget. Hence, as time goes by those whose lives have had the greatest impact upon my own life may already be among those who have gone on while the rest of us await our own end one of these years.
