Sample 1L Contracts Practice Questions and Explanations

Working through actual examples helps to illustrate how 1L contracts practice questions are structured and the approach required for answering them effectively.

1. Question: Under what circumstances can an offer be revoked before acceptance?
2. Answer: An offer can generally be revoked at any time before acceptance unless it is an option contract supported by consideration or the offeror has made a firm offer under the Uniform Commercial Code. Revocation must be communicated to the offeree to be effective.
3. Question: What distinguishes a material breach from a minor breach?
4. Answer: A material breach significantly impairs the contract's value to the non-breaching party and may excuse performance, while a minor breach is less severe and does not discharge the non-breaching party's obligations.
5. Question: Explain the doctrine of consideration and its importance in contract formation.
6. Answer: Consideration is a bargained-for exchange of value between parties. It is essential for a contract to be legally enforceable, as it demonstrates mutual assent and the parties' intention to be bound.
