Common Figures of Speech in Crossword Clues

Figures of speech are expressions that convey meaning in a non-literal way to add emphasis, clarity, or beauty to language. In crossword puzzles, clues referencing these expressions often serve as subtle hints requiring solvers to identify the particular figure of speech. Some of the most common figures of speech encountered in crossword clues include metaphors, similes, idioms, personification, hyperbole, and alliteration.

Metaphors

Metaphors describe one thing by asserting that it is another, establishing a direct comparison without using “like” or “as.” This figure of speech is prevalent in crossword clues because it condenses complex ideas into vivid, symbolic language. For example, a clue might say “Sea of troubles” to hint at the metaphor “storm.”

Similes

Similes explicitly compare two different things using “like” or “as.” These are often clues that suggest a likeness in qualities or characteristics, such as “Quick as a _____” to lead to answers like “flash” or “cheetah.” Recognizing similes in clues can help solvers identify the answer by focusing on the comparative element.

Idioms

Idioms are fixed expressions whose meanings cannot be deduced from the individual words. Crossword clues referencing idioms require knowledge of common phrases, such as “Break the ice” or “Bite the bullet.” These clues often appear with hints such as “common saying” or “figurative phrase.”

Personification

Personification attributes human characteristics to non-human subjects. In crossword clues, this figure of speech might be indicated by references to inanimate objects or abstract concepts acting like people, for example, “The wind whispered” or “Time marches on.” Identifying personification clues involves recognizing the attribution of human traits in figurative language.

Hyperbole

Hyperbole is deliberate exaggeration for emphasis or effect. Crossword clues using hyperbole might be phrased as “As old as the hills” or “A million times,” suggesting answers that relate to exaggeration or vast quantities. Understanding hyperbole helps in interpreting clues that seem overstated or exaggerated.

Alliteration

Alliteration is the repetition of initial consonant sounds in closely placed words. While less common in crossword clues, alliteration may be referenced when a clue hints at tongue twisters or poetic devices, such as “Peter Piper’s pick.” Recognizing alliteration can assist with clues focused on sound patterns.

Understanding Metaphors and Similes

Metaphors and similes are foundational figures of speech that often appear in crossword clues. Their ability to convey complex meanings succinctly makes them popular in puzzle construction. Distinguishing between these two types of comparisons is key to solving related clues efficiently.

What Is a Metaphor?

A metaphor is a direct comparison that states one thing is another, often revealing hidden similarities. For example, “Time is a thief” implies that time steals moments from life. Crossword clues using metaphors may challenge solvers to identify the implied object or concept rather than the literal words.

What Is a Simile?

Similes compare two different things explicitly using “like” or “as,” such as “brave as a lion.” In crossword puzzles, clues referencing similes often contain these comparative words or phrases, signaling to solvers that the answer relates to the quality being compared.

Examples of Metaphor and Simile Clues

- “Cloud nine” (metaphor for extreme happiness)
- “As sly as a ____” (simile for cunning animals like “fox”)
- “Heart of stone” (metaphor for emotional coldness)
- “Like water off a ____” (simile meaning easily dismissed, typically “duck”)

Idioms and Their Role in Crossword Puzzles

Idioms represent a significant category of figures of speech frequently used in crossword clues. Their fixed, non-literal meanings require solvers to have a strong familiarity with common phrases and cultural expressions. Recognizing idioms quickly can expedite puzzle solving.

Characteristics of Idioms

Idioms are phrases whose meanings cannot be directly inferred from the individual words. For instance, “kick the bucket” means “to die,” not literally kicking a bucket. Crossword clues referencing idioms often hint at common expressions, colloquialisms, or sayings that have figurative meanings.

Common Idioms in Crossword Clues

- “Bite the bullet” – to endure a painful experience
- “Break the ice” – to initiate conversation
- “Hit the sack” – to go to sleep
- “Let the cat out of the bag” – to reveal a secret
- “Under the weather” – feeling ill

Tips for Identifying Idiomatic Clues

Clues that suggest familiar sayings, involve unusual word combinations, or seem puzzling when taken literally often point to idioms. Phrases with verbs that don’t align logically with their objects can also indicate idiomatic expressions.

Other Rhetorical Devices Used as Crossword Clues

Beyond metaphors, similes, and idioms, crossword puzzles may feature clues related to a variety of other figures of speech and rhetorical devices. These include irony, oxymoron, allusion, euphemism, and onomatopoeia. Understanding these can broaden a solver’s ability to tackle diverse and challenging clues.

Irony

Irony involves expressing meaning by using language that normally signifies the opposite, often for humorous or emphatic effect. Crossword clues referencing irony may involve phrases that contradict the expected meaning, such as “Great for a rainy day” when implying something unfortunate.

Oxymoron

An oxymoron pairs contradictory terms to create a paradoxical effect, such as “bittersweet” or “deafening silence.” Clues indicating oxymorons often hint at opposing or conflicting ideas combined in a single phrase.

Allusion

Allusion refers to an indirect reference to a person, event, or work of literature. Crossword clues may use allusions to famous stories, historical events, or cultural references as subtle hints for answers.

Euphemism

Euphemisms are mild or indirect expressions substituted for ones considered harsh or blunt. Clues involving euphemisms might soften difficult topics, such as “passed away” instead of “died.” Recognizing euphemisms can help when clues avoid direct language.

Onomatopoeia

Onomatopoeia refers to words that imitate natural sounds, like “buzz” or “clang.” Crossword clues related to onomatopoeia often involve sound effects or auditory hints.

Strategies for Solving Crossword Clues Involving Figures of Speech

Successfully solving crossword clues based on figures of speech requires a combination of linguistic knowledge, pattern recognition, and contextual inference. Employing effective strategies can improve performance and enjoyment when encountering these clues.

Familiarize with Common Figures of Speech

Building a strong foundation in the definitions and examples of common figures of speech increases the likelihood of recognizing them in crossword clues. Regular exposure to idioms, metaphors, and similes in reading and puzzles enhances this familiarity.

Analyze Clue Wording Carefully

Pay close attention to words that indicate figurative language, such as “like,” “as,” “say,” “figuratively,” or “commonly said.” These often signal the presence of a figure of speech. Also, note unusual or paradoxical phrasing that might hint at irony or oxymoron.

Consider the Puzzle's Theme and Crossing Answers

The overall theme of the crossword and intersecting answers can provide context clues. Some puzzles focus on idioms or literary devices, narrowing the scope of possible figures of speech. Cross-checking with known letters from other answers helps confirm guesses.

Use Process of Elimination

If multiple figures of speech fit the clue, eliminate those that do not align with the clue's length or crossing letters. This methodical approach refines potential answers and increases accuracy.

Practice with Thematic Puzzles

Engaging regularly with puzzles featuring figures of speech and figurative language enhances pattern recognition and clue interpretation skills. The more exposure to these clues, the more intuitive solving them becomes.

Summary of Key Strategies

1. Learn and review common figures of speech.
2. Look for linguistic indicators in clues.

crossword clue figures of speech: Robert Ward's The Crucible Robert Paul Kolt, 2008-12-12 In Robert Ward's The Crucible: Creating an American Musical Nationalism, Robert Paul Kolt explores the life of the American composer Robert Ward through an examination of his most popular and enduring work, The Crucible. Focusing on the musical-linguistic relationships within the opera, Kolt demonstrates Ward's unique synthesis of text and music, one that lends itself to the perception of American musical nationalism. This book contains the most thorough and in-depth biography of Ward yet in print. Based on interviews with the composer, Kolt presents new information about Ward's life and career, focusing on his opera and examining the formation and construction of The Crucible's libretto and score, in turn offering new insights into the process of composing an opera. Kolt observes how the libretto's linguistic aspects helped Ward formulate the opera's melodic and rhythmic musical material. A detailed and unique analysis of the opera, particularly the musical and linguistic techniques Ward employed, demonstrates how these techniques lend themselves to the opera's reception as a work of American musical nationalism. The book also provides yet unpublished information on Arthur Miller's play, examining how it came to be written and soon after became the basis for Ward's work. Several appendixes provide a fuller picture, including a deleted scene from Miller's play and Ward's version of the scene, a chronological overview of the Salem Witchcraft Trials, and illustrations and photo reproductions from Ward's manuscript.
