These services are designed to promote healing, restore function, and prevent future injuries through expert evaluation and targeted interventions. The primary goal of physical therapy in this region is to deliver personalized care that maximizes recovery potential while minimizing discomfort and downtime.

Initial Evaluation and Assessment

The first step in any Franklin Square physical therapy program involves a thorough evaluation conducted by licensed physical therapists. This assessment includes a detailed review of medical history, physical examination, and functional testing to identify the root causes of pain or mobility limitations. The results guide the development of an individualized treatment plan aimed at addressing specific impairments.

Customized Treatment Planning

Based on the initial assessment, therapists create a customized care plan that outlines goals, therapeutic interventions, and timelines. These plans are flexible and adjusted as patients progress, ensuring that therapy remains effective and aligned with recovery milestones. Patient education is also emphasized to empower individuals with knowledge about their condition and self-care strategies.

Customized exercise programs focus on strengthening muscles, increasing range of motion, and enhancing endurance. Exercises may include stretching, resistance training, balance drills, and functional movement patterns to restore normal activity levels.

Modalities and Technology

Advanced modalities such as ultrasound, electrical stimulation, heat and cold therapy, and traction are commonly integrated into treatment sessions. These technologies assist in pain management, tissue healing, and inflammation reduction.
